Certificate Program In Documentary Arts And Ethnographic Practice (DAEP)

Dear Professor,

Your advisee, _____, is applying for the graduate certificate in Documentary Arts and Ethnographic Practice (DAEP), a 13-credit interdisciplinary program that involves faculty and courses in the Center of the Arts, the College of Liberal Arts and the School of Media and Communication.

This program is open to students in M.F.A. and Ph.D. programs school wide, and it is ideally suited for students who planning to incorporate visual studies, ethnographic methods and documentary practices in their artistic and scholarly projects.

The certificate program requires students to complete 13-credits from a list of approved courses offered across the University.

Please direct questions and concerns to Roderick Coover (rcoover@temple.edu), or Naomi Schiller (naomi.schiller@temple.edu) or visit DAEP's website: <http://smc.temple.edu/fma/graduate-daep-certificate/>.

Your signature below will indicate that your student is in good academic standing and that you recommend him or her to the DAEP program.
